

My son Daniel was 20.5 inches when he was born. Suppose he grows approximately 0.5 inches each month.

a) What type of function would represent this scenario?

b) Give the equation.

c) Discuss particular characteristics of the graph (including slope and intercepts) to justify your choice and check your equation.

d) What do the intercepts tell us about this scenario?